

Tom Evans, MD

Aeras Global TB Vaccine Foundation

Dr. Evans received his MD from the University of Virginia and trained in Internal Medicine at UCSF, and in Infectious Diseases back at Virginia. He was on faculty at the University of Utah and the University of Rochester before becoming Infectious Diseases Division Chief and full Professor at the University of California, Davis. His academic research centered on leishmania and vaccine development and led to him joining Vical, a DNA vaccine developer as Chief Medical Officer in 2002. In 2005 he joined the Novartis Institutes for Biomedical Research as Head of Infectious Diseases Translational Medicine and Research. In September 2008 he moved to CNIBR to help in setting up the Translational Science group in China. He joined Aeras Global TB Vaccine Foundation in September 2010 as Chief Scientific Officer. He has over 100 authored publications.